

My Story of Inspiration

A while back, Trace Blackmore, the owner of Blackmore Enterprises, Inc., asked if he could interview me about my career in the Water Treatment Industry and share it on a water treatment podcast that he runs called ScalingUp. I said: "Yes".

Specifically, my objective was to share the part of my story about how and why I started my business. I started my business at a very low point in my life. I thought that should share my story with others. My story might inspire others who find themselves in a desperate situation.

My advice is:

1. Have a Vision.
2. Do a Self-Assessment.
3. Make Good Choices.
4. Don't Play the Victim. Take Action Instead.
5. Use Capitalism to pull Yourself out of your Financial Hole.
6. Believe in Yourself.
7. Keep on Trying. Never Give Up.

Here is a link to the ScalingUp Podcast. If you like it and think that it may be helpful to others, all I ask is that you share it with others. Thank You.

<http://scalinguph2o.com/2018/02/16/032-one-dick-hourigan/>

Dick Hourigan
Owner & Analytical Chemist
Richard Hourigan, Inc.
dba, TheWaterTreatmentStore.com